Numb. 354.

THE Pennſylvania GAZETTE.

Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

From September 11. to September 18. 1735.

LONDON, June 16.

Extract of a Letter from Londonderry, June 3. 1735.

THE Death of Cattle, and the Dearneſs and Scarcity of Oats and Oatmeal this Year, would have reduc'd the Poor of this Country to the utmoſt Extremity, if ſome well-diſpoſed Perſons had not join-ed in a Subſcription to bring ſome Oat-meal from Scotland, which they ſold in this Market for what it coſt them; and notwithſtanding this Act of Beneficence, we are told ſome have periſh'd for meer Want. Labourers are become extreamly ſcarce, which is owing to all thoſe who were able to travel, and had as much Money as could carry them to England, going thither for Work; what it will end in God only knows; but conſidering the Condition of this Country at preſent, and the great Number of Proteſtant Inhabitants that have gone this Seaſon from this Province to America, (not fewer than 1800 from this Port, and in the ſame Proportion, as I am well inform'd from all the other Ports of the North, and the Number that they will probably draw after them) we have a moſt melancholy Proſpect, and are in Danger of ſeeing this Country almoſt Deſolate.

Dublin, June 3. Our Letters from the North of Ireland inform us, That Corn is ſo exceeding dear, that Multitudes of Labouring Men are daily travelling towards the Southern Parts of England, to earn their Bread; and 'tis affirmed that many of the Northern Spinners are deſirous to go along with them, or into Munſter, to ſpin the Worſted, or Woollen Yarn, becauſe there is ſaid to be more Profit that Way than by ſpinning of the Linnen, whereby they have not at Home above a Penny a Day clear. Great Numbers are gone and many more are going this Year to America (as they ſay) to avoid the Oppreſſion of Landlords and Tythmen; although ſeven Pence per Day is allowed to the Labourers at the Cennel, yet there are many Hands wanting; ſome think that the way of hard ſwearing at Men's Lives practiſed, and the new Gallows erected near that Place, frightens away a great many People; and the Want of good Half-Pence doth occaſion a general Murmuring.

London, June 24. Laſt Night a moſt dreadful Attempt of Murder was committed by one Mr. Price a Clergyman in this Neighbourhood, on the poor Widow Carpenter at the Chriſtopher in the Market-Place, in the following Manner: Mr. Price came into Mrs. Carpenter's and ask'd her in a very obliging Way how ſhe did, and put one Arm round her Neck, and as ſhe and the Standers by thought was going to kiſs her, when at the ſame Time he had a Penkniſe in his other Hand, with which he ſtab'd her in the Belly ſo that her Bowels came out, and in an Inſtant gave her two other Stabs; her Son and his own Servant endeavouring to get him away from her, received ſome deſperate Wounds; and all three would have been killed on the Spot, had not two ſtrong Men come in, one of whom tripp'd up his Heels, and with much ado got away his Penkniſe and two other naked Penknives that were in his Pocket. Mr Price was directly ſent to Priſon, and the poor Widow is ſo bad, that ſhe can't live many Hours.

This Mr. Price had been out of his Senſes for 6 or 7 Years; and about 6 Months ago he was taken out of a Mad-houſe, he ſeemed to be perfectly in his Senſes, and preach'd an excellent Sermon but laſt Sunday.

We hear by a privite Letter from Berlin, that the Ruſſian Troops, inſtead of helping the Emperor, will only occaſion the Fire to ſpread, which is taken already by ſeveral Princes of Germany, who declare themſelves againſt their Paſſage through their Dominions. Theſe Princes are animated by the Court of France, and by a certain Power in Germany: It is indeed the only Obſtacle, why the Prince Royal of Pruſſia and other Princes of Germany, will not go to the Rhine as they intended, to make a Campaign there under his Highneſs Prince Eugene; and from Frankfort it is confirmed, that ſome of the commanding Officers of a certain Prince's Auxiliary Troops have declared the ſame Diſguſt to his Highneſs Prince Eugene.

On Monday Night an inhuman Murder was committed by one Thomas Woolley, a Basket-maker at Fulham, on the Body of his Wife, by ſtabbing her in the Belly with a Caſe-Knife, of which ſhe inſtantly died: 'Tis ſaid the Occaſion of it was, by a Law-Suit long depending in the Court of Exchequer, between the deceaſed's Uncle and her ſaid Husband: He was afterwards apprehended, and carried before a Magiſtrate, and by him committed to Newgate.

June 20. 'Tis ſaid, that 30,000 Men were to join Count Konigſegg, and that they were very near him, having march'd at the Rate of 20 Miles a Day.

June 27. A great Number of People in the Kingdom of Bohemia, having lately received the Proteſtant Religion, and the reſt ſeeming univerſally diſpoſed to receive it, but for the Hardſhips the new Converts are expoſed to, the King of Pruſſia has order'd his Miniſter, at the Diet of Ratisbon to make a Repreſentation to the Imperial Miniſters there to the following Effect. 'His Pruſſian Majeſty 'has learn'd with Surprize, the Proſecutions exerciſed in 'Bohemia towards the Proteſtants, and is more aſtoniſh'd 'as this Religion is profeſs'd by the Powers who are the 'moſt attach'd to his Imperial Majeſty, and are capable of 'defending, with the greateſt Force, the Intereſts of his 'Family; that it is very well known of what Conſequence 'their Aſſiſtance would be to him at this Juncture; that 'his Majeſty therefore cannot attribute ſuch a Conduct to 'any thing but the indiſcreet Zeal of the Roman Catho-'lick Clergy, and that this Proſecution appears the more 'unjuſt, ſeeing the poor Wretches deſire no more than the 'Alternative of a free Exerciſe of their Religion, or a 'Permiſſion to retire out of the Kingdom, purſuant to the 'Conſtitutions of the Empire, &c.

'Tis not doubted but his Pruſſian Majeſty's Interceſſion in behalf of the Proteſtants will have its due Effect, his Majeſty being ſhortly to lend the Emperor a Sum of 8,000,000 Florins upon the Revenues of Great Glogau and Lignitz in Sileſia.

The 24th Inſt. N. S. The Delfwater, a Dutch Gally, Capt

Capt Vanbrew, arrived at Teſſel in Holland from Martineco; ſhe was detained there 10 Days by contrary Winds; ſhe brings Advice, that the French are buſy in arming Ships, Veſſels, and Row-Galleys in order to cruiſe on the Coaſt, and for fear that the War will ſoon break out and be general in Europe: Two Men of the ſaid Ship were left there in Priſon for attempting to carry away two Dutch Officers in the French Service there, and the Captain was obliged to give Security for himſelf of 20,000 Florins: At the Coaſt of Porto Rico ſhe was ſearched by two Spaniſh Guarda Coſtas, but finding no prohibited Goods, was diſmiſſed, though the Captain was obliged to make them a Preſent of two Pipes of Wine he had on Board for his own Uſe and the Paſſengers. The Cargo of the Ship belonged to two Spaniſh Merchants that were on board at the ſame time, but dreſſed in Sailors Habits, which ſaved their Lives and Effects.

Laſt Week a Woman at Derby, was ſafely delivered of three Boys, ſtrong, healthy and likely to live. 'Tis remarkable that ſhe was a Twin herſelf, as was likewiſe her Husband.

Venice, June 18. Letters from Conſtantinople, of the 14th ult. import, That the Peace between the Turks and Perſians was in all Appearance farther off than ever: Thamas Kouli-Kan has not only rejected the Offers made on the Part of the Grand Seignior, to reſtore the greateſt Part of the Perſian Conqueſts, but demands to be reimburſed the Expences of the War: The Ottoman Porte, on the other Hand, does not think proper to accept thoſe harſh and diſhonourable Conditions, and is reſolved to make yet greater Efforts for continuing the War, and thereby oblige the Perſian General to moderate his Pretentions.

Hague, June 24. M. de Chavigny, who made this Place in his Way to Hanover, executed a Commiſſion from his Court to their High Mightineſſes, in relation to the Step of the Engliſh, and aſſured them, that His Moſt Chriſtian Majeſty was in great Hopes of Succeſs in terminating that Difference in an amicable Way, at leaſt on the Part of Spain; and that nothing remained to be done, but to aſſuage their Spirits a little in Portugal, where they appeared a great deal hotter than in Spain, which the Sight of ſo conſiderable a Squadron could not fail of producing. All he could obtain of their High Mightineſſes, was, a Promiſe to repeat their Inſtances at Lisbon in Favour of Peace, that they would preſerve it at Home, and endeavour to reſtore it Abroad.

We are not ſurprized here to ſee the Publick Funds with you ſink upon the Squadron's Sailing, and Orders ſent to Admiral Steward to hold himſelf in a Readineſs to go and join Sir John Norris with another Squadron: But will you not be aſtoniſhed to hear, that at Amſterdam, Engliſh Eaſt India Stock ſhould ſell three per Cent. higher than at London; and that upon the Expectation of a ſpeedy Armiſtice?

They write from Petersburg, That the Miniſters of England and Holland are greatly careſſed there, in hopes thoſe two Powers will ſpeedily declare in favour of the Emperor; eſpecially ſince the Anſwer of the Allies muſt needs be diſpleaſing to them both. It is moreover obſerved that thoſe two Miniſters have a very good Underſtanding with thoſe of the Emperor and King Auguſtus.

Theſe Letters add, That the Court of Ruſſia flatter themſelves, that the Affair of Poland is as good as ended, and that the tranquility is at preſent reſtored in that Kingdom, eſpecially ſince the Primate has ſubmitted, for fear of being ſent to Siberia. Wherefore, it has been reſolved to begin the Evacuation of Poland by ſending home the Coſſacks firſt.

Leghorn, June 11. A French Ship arrived here laſt Saturday from Toulon, the Captain whereof gives out, that beſides the 8 Ships which had been equipt in that Port, and are ready to put to Sea, 6 others were fitting out; and that all the Sailors who could be found along the Coaſts, were enliſted for that Service; 'tis added, that a great many Officers had ſet out from Marſeilles, with Number of Gally Slaves, to ſerve on board the Galliots, which have been built upon the Rhine.

Vienna, June 11. The Affairs of Poland become every Day more and more favourable to King Auguſtus. 'Tis reckon'd that the Auxiliary Troops of Ruſſia, arrived the Day before Yeſterday on the Frontiers of Sileſia. The prudent Conduct of Count Konigſegg, is much talk'd of, in retiring into the Tirol, on the Approach of the Army of the Allies. It is hoped, that the Imperial Army will ſupport themſelves in ſome advantageous Poſt, and thereby ſtop the Courſe and Deſign of the Enemy.

Strasburg, June 20. M. de Kleinholt, has handſomely beaten the famous Baronny, Lieutenant Colonel of Huſſars, who did ſo much Miſchief the laſt Year: His Detatchment conſiſted of 300 Huſſars, 24 of them were taken all mounted, beſides 14 Horſes; and a good Number of them were kill'd and wounded, among them they reckon the Commandant, otherwiſe all is quiet in the Army.

LONDON, June 25.

There is a great Alarm in the Ports of Thieſte and Fiume, on Account of ſome foreign Ships of War appearing on that Coaſt.

They talk at Cleves, that the King of Pruſſia is going to Herenhauſen; and that four Kings will have an Interview there, viz. the Kings, of England, Sweden, Denmark and Pruſſia, in order to conſult Meaſures in the preſent Extraordinary Conjuncture of Affairs.

'Tis ſaid, his Pruſſian Majeſty will have the Prince Royal to go and make the Campaign this Year on the Rhine.

Extract of a Letter from an Officer in the Imperial Army in Italy, dated Mantua, June 12.

'OUR Army was encamp'd on both Sides of the Po, 'at Oſtilia and Revere, having two Bridges on that 'River, when the Enemy appeared on Thurſday Even-'ing, in the Neighbourhood of Revere; we immediately 'retired to Oſtilia, and that in ſome haſt, ſo that above 10 'Men were drowned; the Bridges were immediately 'broke down to preſerve the Boats; but there being no 'Thought about our 12 Gallies lately arrived, well arm-'ed and provided, they were ſunk in leſs than two Hours 'Time, by the Enemy's Cannon; and the Crews being ve-'ry much irritated hereby againſt Colonel Borentelaun, 'who commanded them, mutined, ſo that Count Konig-'ſegg was obliged to give him a Guard of Grenadiers to 'ſave his Life. On Friday our Army remained in the 'Neighbourhood of Oſtilia. I went to Count Stampa, 'to let him know that we had 6000 Men ſick in the 'Mantuan, who were not thought of; he anſwered me 'very civily, it was not his Buſineſs, but Count Konig-'ſegg's, which is very true. Monday Morning good Part 'of our Baggage was ſent away to Verona. We intend to 'put 12,000 Men into Mantua, and then ſhall do as we 'are beſt able. Part of our Proviſions are loſt, and 'tis 'to be feared, we ſhall loſe more. Thurſday and Friday, 'the Enemy fired continually upon us, from their Batte-'ries on the Banks of the Po, near Revere; and have ſo 'battered Oſtilia, that the Officers have ſent away their 'Baggage to Verona. Our ſick Men have alſo begun to 'march off, tho' no Proviſion is made for them; but they 'judge Right: The Enemy have built 3 Bridges at St. 'Benedetto and 3 on the Oglio.

Extract of a Letter from a French Officer, dated from the Camp at Marmirola, June 23.

'THE Day before Yeſterday, the Marquis de Bonas, 'advanced with 1000 Grenadiers, and 1000 Horſe, 'to Caſtle Nova, to poſſeſs that Poſt; and Yeſterday in 'the Evening, the Marſhall de Noailles, with the reſt of 'the Grenadiers, 100 Men detatched out of each Battali-'on, with a ſuitable Number of Horſe and Dragoons, and 'ſeveral Pieces of Cannon, marched after M. de Bonas; 'but the Enemy ſtil retiring, and as 'tis believed, have 'this Day paſſed the Adige, we ſhall make no long Stay 'here, but continue our purſuit as far as we can, until we 'are ſtopped by the Mountains.

June 27. 'Tis ſaid, that Kouli Kan, after he took Tefflis, returned to the Siege of Babylon, and is like to have a bloody Engagement with the Turks, who are aſſembling a numerous Army for that Purpoſe: and that the Grand Seignior, has cauſed his Son in-Law, Abdalla Baſſa, to be ſtrangled, for refuſing to go to the Army, purſuant to ſecond Order.
